WAR PREPARATIONS BY RUSSIA!

Tokyo Gives Facts And Figures

HUNDREDS OF AIRCRAFT: 300 TANKS, ETC. IN FAR EAST

Tokyo, Oct. 18.
An announcement which has been issued by the Japanese War Office is conspicuous for its blunt declarations of Soviet military preparedness, and of the serious menace that this is at present providing for Japan.

The Soviet army, the statement declares, now boasts a peace-time strength of no fewer than 1,200,000 men, fully armed and equipped with the most powerful and up-to-date weapons and war material. Organized into 75 infantry divisions and thirteen cavalry divisions, this huge and well-trained land force is backed by 2,500 aircraft, 1,500 tanks, a large number of armoured cars, and a chemical unit.

Thanks to the remarkable development of heavy industries in the U. S. S. R. during the past few years, the Soviet army, the statement asserts, "is now far superior to that of the Tsarist regime in material and quality, as well as in numbers."

"AS SOON AS WAR OPENS"

Declaring that Soviet military preparations in the Far East are being "further increased," the statement contends that the present strength east of Baikal is roughly ten divisions, with 300 tanks and several hundred aircraft, including "scores of heavy bombers." The statement says bluntly, "this air force has power to attack the Imperial capital as soon as war opens between our two countries."

Japanese press reports amplifying the War Office statement dispose of the Soviet forces in the Far East as follows:—

Four infantry divisions and a cavalry brigade in Vladivostok, Nikolai, and along the Ussuri Railway on the eastern border of Manchoukuo; three infantry divisions between Haborovsk and Blagoveschensk on the Manchoukuo northern border; and the remainder, including a cavalry division, in the Zabaikal region.

Three hundred tanks are said to be distributed among the various divisions, while the bulk of the aircraft, "totalling some 350, including forty heavy bombers, are reported to be based on Vladivostok and Nikolai, "the nearest points to Japan and Korea."

It is further reported that the Soviet have been carrying out "secret manoeuvres off Vladivostok" with six modern submarines, and also that six more are now being fitted out.

CHEMICAL UNIT

It is significant that the War Office statement singled out the Soviet "chemical unit" for special mention, as it is considered by many observers that whereas the Soviet in the event of war with Japan would be badly handicapped by its inadequate lines of communications between the Far East and European Russia, compensation might be found in two other directions, namely, aviation and gas warfare. In both of these the Soviet have recently made tremendous developments.

The War Office statement seems to have been intended primarily for home consumption to remove any opposition that may arise to the huge appropriations that are demanded for armament replenishment in the coming budget.

Nevertheless, it implies that a certain amount of anxiety is evident in Japan regarding Soviet military strength, and it is probably not without significance that a fresh bid is being made for American friendship and understanding, as there is an undercurrent of perturbation lest the recent reports regarding American recognition of the Soviet should prove correct and result in strengthening Moscow's hand.—Reuter.

FRENCH PAPER'S COMMENT

Paris, Oct. 14.
"The Soviet Union has recently occupied such a great place in our political considerations, that we cannot but treat with great seriousness the conflict threatening to arise between the Soviet Union and Japan, in connection with the Chinese Eastern Railway problem," writes the Paris newspaper "Notre Temps."

"When present political conditions in Europe are taken into account, this conflict is fraught with most serious consequences," is the opinion of the newspaper.

Reviewing the chain of "provocations" perpetrated by Japan since the beginning of the negotiations for sale of the C. E. R., the newspaper continues: "The U. S. S. R. replied to that with sufficient firmness by publishing four documents proving most undoubtedly that Japan has decided to use underhand methods and to ruin the C. E. R. by all means, in order to depreciate it and eventually to snatch it from the hands of the U. S. S. R. when the latter becomes tired of his insidious fight."

"Japan is now striving to refute the authenticity of the published documents, blaming the 'unwholesome' methods of the Soviet diplomacy. This does not mitigate the blow, however. Quite to the contrary, bright light has been thrown on the methods applied by Japan," concludes the journal.—"Tass."

JAPANESE AIR CORPS

Tokyo, Oct. 18.
The Japanese Navy Minister has decided to attach as from November 1, two additional naval air corps to the naval station at Port Arthur and Ominato, in Aomori prefecture. A third air corps is to be established near Saeki, in Oita prefecture, Kyushu. Commander Kira has been appointed the commander of the Ominato Naval Air Corps.—"Rengo."

MOSCOW'S VERSION

Moscow, Oct. 17.
The Soviet Union has begun strengthening its defences in the Far East following the serious developments recently in the dispute with Japan over the Chinese Eastern Railway, the United Press learned to-day.

Russia's man-power is now being concentrated in Siberia, while her aerial forces also are being gradually shifted eastward. Large stocks of supplies likewise are being concentrated in that area.

It is even reported here that there has been a partial mobilisation of local Red Army reserves in eastern Siberia, but this cannot be definitely confirmed here.

The establishment of diplomatic relations between the Soviet Union and the United States has acquired special importance and urgency, according to competent political observers in the capital, because of the sharpening of Russo-Japanese relations.

Soviet leaders are convinced that American recognition of Moscow would act as an effective brake upon the Japanese military factions which are represented as manoeuvring Tokyo into "anti-Soviet adventures." Washington, in the Soviet view, is in a position to prevent war in the Far East and it is believed that this theory is being brought to the attention of the United States Department of State.—"United Press."

SUCCESSOR TO SIR PETER GRAIN

Shanghai, October 22.

FIRST EXCITEMENT SUBSIDING

Germany's Strong Desire
For Peace

Berlin, Oct. 16.
That the Disarmament Conference will follow Signor Mussolini's suggestion and adjourn for a week or so, is considered practically certain by the Geneva correspondents of the German papers who dwell at length on yesterday's deliberations, which generally took place behind closed doors.

It is believed that the main committee will formally announce its adjournment this afternoon and endorse the reply drafted by the Steering Committee which is to be wired to Germany also in the course of this afternoon. The reply will, it is predicted, be couched in conciliatory terms.

Meanwhile it would appear from the flood of foreign telegrams reaching here from all parts of the world that the first excitement has subsided and that, after the full contents of Chancellor Hitler's speech become known, calmer views will prevail.

A number of Hitler's chief lieutenants spoke in the course of yesterday in Germany, all stressing that the door was not closed yet. For, even without the League of Nations, the world will have an opportunity to come to reasonable terms.

Dr. Goebbels, Minister for Propaganda, reiterated Germany's strong desire for peace, declaring that Germany is ready to bury the hatchet.

There is a feeling here that an understanding of some sort must be reached on a different basis, a feeling which is also shared by Italy according to the opinions reflected in the official Italian communique broadcast last night.—Trans-Ocean Kuo Min.

Organisers of "secret groups" in Japan will be punished more heavily in the future if the Japanese Home Office and the Justice Ministry carry out present intentions. In the campaign to combat the spread of extremist ideas, both Left and Right, the authorities have already decided to impose heavier punishments on those who break the general provisions of the police peace preservation law, but it is desired to augment this decision with special increase in the punishment meted out to those who violate the law against forming secret organisations.

HOW TO READ THE GOSPELS VIII. God's Rule In The World

Preaching yesterday evening at St. John's, Cathedral Bishop Hall
said:—

To-night I am going to set a child in our midst. The child was an undergraduate of an English civic University. The Archbishop of York had been speaking and asked for questions. The child's question was this: "Why didn't God kill Adam and Eve and make them over again?" To-night I want to try and answer that question.
The question that is in the heart of every honest Christian
man is, "Why does the world show
so little evidence of any rule of God in it, and so much evidence of misrule. This evidence of misrule is loud in the ears of many conscientious men and women who can find no sufficient evidence for God's rule. The more nearly men and women draw to our Lord Jesus Christ in sympathy and common outlook the more they will see evidence of misrule. From that point they can take two steps.
They can become cynical. But to become cynical about the world's misrule is a step away from the mind of Jesus. The other step is in the opposite direction. They can kneel before Calvary, the most complete picture of misrule in the world that there is, and cry with Thomas 'My Lord and My God.'
There are many who would like to take this step but believe it to be dishonest. Consequently they remain suspended, troubled, and if truth be told, ineffective in their dealings with the evil about them.

VERIFYING THOUGHT IN EXPERIENCE.

At this point I am going to use
another of Professor MacMurray's suggestions in his recent book "Interpreting the Universe." It is this: "Knowledge is prior to thought,
not thought prior to knowledge." I want first of all to convince you that this is the real process. In arguing with a friend you appeal
to support your point of view to something of which he has already knowledge in his own experience.
Jesus Christ was "understood by the common people" because He appealed to things of which they had knowledge; to the behaviour
of fathers with their children,
shepherds with their sheep, housewives with lost treasures. You will say that the story of the Prodigal son is not a common experience, a most uncommon one.
That is true. But men and women with a normal experience of fatherhood would accept this as a possible experience of fatherhood
at a superhuman level.

Our thinking about life and our conduct in life are conditioned by our common average experience
and not as rule by exceptional experience, though we may not ourselves realise how much this is the case. I have a friend who for many years a school-master before coming into the little estate
of his ancestors. Believe it or not,
this is what happened. He was walking me through the woods and describing to a schoolmaster's devotion to detail exactly how many years it would take before
the tree would become timber.
Two ladies were coming towards us carrying baskets. Raising his hat he stopped them and said,
"May I enquire ladies what you are doing on this estate? It is private property." The reply was,
"We have come to buy tomatoes." Off came his hat again, and he closed the interview by saying,
"We are always glad to welcome customers. You will find the gardener in the greenhouse now.
Good afternoon." Many years as a schoolmaster profoundly influenced his attitude towards people. I think that you will all recognise similar cases of that, when men who have been soldiers become secretaries of golf clubs, or perhaps when men and women who have lived in the East have to handle domestic servants in England. I remember myself getting into trouble for using military methods in a civilian camp just after the war, with a refractory bugler.
I was met with the reply, "We are not in the army now Governor, thank Gaw'd." For experience influences both, our attitude towards life's problem and our thinking about life as a whole. If this is the case, as I believe it is, then we can only think of God's rule of the world in terms of different types of ruling which we have encountered. Our prime difficulty is that God's ruling of the world is described by Jesus in terms of fatherhood, and our experience of fatherhood is limited to family life.
The example, therefore, to follow
the example of our Lord Jesus Christ and call God Father while our experience of life knows fatherhood only in the narrow limits
of the family has led to much falsity in Christian living. We call God "Father" and in the next breath call Him "Father."
These little in our experience are self-contradictory. Our difficulty is to imagine a father, taking away by death an only son from a

widowed mother, or a young wife
from a devoted husband leaving
children be born blind or crippled,
or leaving millions of breadwinners
without employment.

"ART THOU A KING THEN?"
Now there is a very great deal
in the Gospels about this problem
about God's rule in the world.
This is translated the Kingdom of God. Jesus died as a King. He began His life by saying, "The Kingdom of God is at hand." The last question He was asked is,
"Wilt Thou then restore the Kingdom?" Translations of such picture language of great men are almost impossible. But "The Rule of God" does more nearly translate the phrase than, "The Kingdom of God." Pilate recognised this rule and said, "Art Thou a King then?"
Jesus said, "My Kingdom is not of this world else would my servants fight." But in the prayer which he gave us to pray he taught us to say, "Thy Kingdom come. Thy will be done in earth as it is in Heaven." He said, "That if I by the finger cast out devils, then is the Kingdom of God come upon you." In plain English that means God's rule of the world has begun
in a new way.

Will you go back a minute to
what I suggested about the Parable of the Prodigal Son. You have there the picture of human fatherhood acting in an unheard of generous way.

Now Jesus' way of ruling the world of men is to all other known ways of ruling as the story of the Prodigal Son is to all other known ways of fatherhood. But once the story of the Prodigal Son seizes
our hearts it makes significant any similar experience of our own, and so convinces us of its truth, not
perhaps as possible for ourselves,
but as likely for God.

My question is this. Once the life of Jesus, the death of Jesus,
His resurrection, and the varied
history of the Christian Church,
can be seen as an ideal experience,
unlike all other experiences, and
yet like enough to other experiences
to be thinkable, may we not come to a similar conclusion? This is unlike our own experience of ruling
and impossible for us, but it is at least an attractive suggestion that
like the action of the Prodigal's father, it is possible for God.

FAILURE OF HUMAN GOVERNMENTS.

The problem of governments, of ruling, is not one about which we men can boast. Europe is going through a new phase in the history of the attempt of men to rule.
It looks as if we men are finding it impossible to secure at the same time, the complete liberty of the person and the practical welfare of the community as a whole.
Nothing was more liberal in its ideals than the Italian Government just after the war. But every train was late, every vehicle ramshackle, and the country despised.
Italy, Russia, and now Germany,
have sacrificed personal freedom
for corporate well-being. A liberal journalist from Britain has said,
"We talk about the horror of poverty in England. Italy has no freedom to talk about poverty, but she is rooting the actual thing out of her country." Our experience of ruling, therefore, beyond the family circle is one continual compromise between personal freedom
and corporate well-being. A compromise which is continually breaking down. The independent city states of Greece are followed by the empires of Philip and Alexander; the grand independence of the Roman plebs gives way to the pathetic glory of Augustus Caesar. We are witnessing a similar process to-day. The personal liberty of our fathers based on civic commercial success, and civic independence is going down before
the needs of the world as a whole.

IS JESUS MORE SUCCESSFUL AS A RULER?

Put against this record of human failure to secure at once the well-being of the community and the freedom of the individual Pilate's question Art Thou a King
then? Jesus rules more hearts today than Karl Marx, Mussolini or Napoleon. The rule of Jesus is as isolated from our average experience as that of the father of the Prodigal Son is isolated from the average conduct of human fatherhood. The question is, can the isolated experience of the rule of Jesus really illuminate the problem of how God rules the world?
I want to attempt to give two answers to the question of fatherhood. The first is theoretical, the second practical.

(1) I want again to quote Professor MacMurray. In his recent book he shows as successfully as
"Freedom in the Modern World"
that in our thinking about personal relationships we are continually being influenced by our experience of other than personal life. In thinking of the world as a whole, our pictures are formed
more from our immediate experience of, for example, a house, or a forest, or a landscape, into which
a whole lot of different things fit

HEIR TO THE ROMANOFFS Young Prince's Coming of Age

On August 30 the young Grand Duke Vladimir of Russia, only son of the Grand Duke Cyril, was sixteen years old, at which age, according to Russian law, members
of the Imperial family reach their majority.

The Grand Duke Cyril is the head of the House of Romanoff and
the legitimate candidate for the Throne of Russia. During the past few years his activities have increased considerably, and his name
is well known in Russia.

The young Grand Duke Vladimir
is a boy of exceptional physique and intelligence, and has a great interest in the destinies of his country.
His hobby is mechanics.

The Little Breton resort of Saint-Briac, where the Grand Duke Cyril has his residence was the scene of a ceremony during which the young Grand Duke was declared of age
by his father to whom he had to swear an oath of allegiance in the presence of his uncles the Grand Dukes Andrei and Dimitri, as well
as deputations from the Russian Church and Royalist organisations.

Among those present were M.
Kasem-Beg, head of the Young Russians' Union, a body with which the young Duke is closely associated.
This body aims at reconstructing
Russia on the lines of a Federal Empire, and has an economic programme similar to Fascism. It is the largest of the younger emigre organisations.

Into one picture or pattern of thought, than from our experience
of persons in personal relationship with ourselves. Professor Mac-Murray contends that the failure of our civilisation is due to a fundamental mistake of this kind,
and that Russia will fail for the same reason. I remember Mr.
Ramsay MacDonald comparing society to a tree, and saying that Russia makes the mistake of comparing society to a house. Russia says, "Knock the house down and build a new one." Mr. MacDonald says: Society is not a house but a tree "If you cut the tree down
you destroy the living thing, and though you may get a series of shrubs you cannot in that way
make a better tree." But they are both wrong. Society is neither a house nor a tree, but people, and
you cannot treat people as you would treat a house or tree you must treat people as people. That is what Jesus did.

Is it possible that Jesus handling
of people both in His life and since His death does really give us a picture for which there is no other analogy of the ideal form of government, in which personal freedom and corporate well-being are secure by the voluntary acceptance of membership in a society? This society is held together not by rules, or by common nationality, or by common interest, but by direct personal relationship with the Head of the society, Jesus Christ,
who is God come into the world
to lead it to its final destiny.

Secondly the practical answer. If you accept by contention that thought must follow experience, then you cannot answer my theoretical question until you yourself
have shared the experience of life in that society. Once a man can kneel before the Cross and say
"My Lord, and My God," knowing in his heart that this is God, is Lord, is ruler, he is taken into a experience which illumines the world in a new way. The plain fact of the matter is that those who accept the rule of God in Jesus Christ do find an answer to the problems of the world's misrule. My soccer
friends in the North of England
thought Rugby football a most dangerous game until I tempted them to try. They are now enthusiastic supporters of what the local press calls 'the carrying code.'

GOD'S WAY OR MAN'S.

God's way of ruling is so different from ours that we could never believe it possible unless He Himself
had given a convincing demonstration.

During the last week I have been
spelling out morning by morning
in Chinese like a kindergarten
child the Temptation Story in St.
Luke's Gospel. The scene as a whole has taken hold of me with renewed conviction. "Thou art God's Son" said the Devil, "then gave people bread to eat beginning with yourself. Startle the people into obedience. Take hold of this world of misrule and knock it into shape. I will help you if you like.
There is a complete picture both
of human impotence and of Man
making God in his own image,
able to do the things men want done in man's way. Jesus' life from then to His death, His resurrection,
and the mighty story of the Christian Church, is His answer to that impotence. Because in the practical experience of His followers
this answer is for them convincing.
I beg you to accept our Christian faith, that this is God showing us, how He does rule one. Seeing this rule of God in one man's life we know what God is, what we are,
and what God's plan for us may be.

HONG KONG TRADE IN 1933

Twenty Per Cent Decrease On Last Year

SLIGHT FALL IN BRITISH SHARE

The Statistical Office of the Imports and Exports Department reports that the declared values of imports of merchandise into Hong Kong during the first nine months of 1933, amounted to $381.0 millions (£25.5 millions), as compared with $477.8 millions (£31.4 millions) in the corresponding period of 1932, representing a decrease in terms of local currency of 20.3 per cent.

Exports were declared to a value of $307.0 millions (£20.5 millions), as compared with $352.3 millions (£23.2 millions): a decrease of 12.9 per cent.

Comparative figures for the first nine months of 1932 and 1933 (including Treasure) are as follows:—

	IMPORTS		EXPORTS
	(000 omitted)
	1932	1933	1932	1933
Merchandise .....	477,820	381,066	352,275	307,027
Treasure .....	75,211	26,339	91,371	103,142
Total:	553,032	407,408	443,646	410,169

TRADE IN SUBSIDIARY COIN

It will be seen from the above table that imports of Treasure during the first nine months of 1933, amounted to $26.3 millions, a decline of $48.9 millions as compared with the corresponding period of 1932, while exports increased from $14.4 millions to $103.1 millions, but it should be noted that these statistics do not accurately represent the true position, on account of concealed movements of Silver Subsidiary Coin. During the first nine months of 1933, imports of Canton 20-cent pieces totalled $22.3 millions; exports to North China in the same period amounting to $22.0 millions. In October, 1932, an embargo was placed on the export of Silver Subsidiary Coin from South China, with the result that imports into Hong Kong almost entirely disappeared, although the export to North China from Hong Kong continued unabated. For the first nine months of 1933, total declared imports of 20-cent pieces from Canton amounted to only $55,000, while exports to Shanghai amounted to $22.9 millions; the disparity apparently being due to the fact that imports from Canton were neither entered on ships' manifests, nor declared to Statistical Office.

In the first nine months of 1932, Great Britain enjoyed 13.2 per cent. of the total import trade, but the percentage fell to 10.9 per cent. in the corresponding period of 1933. The Dutch East Indies, U.S.A., Germany, Malaya, Australia and Belgium also showing decreased shares of Hong Kong imports. The China share increased from 28.3 per cent. to 29.4 per cent.; Japan from 3.1 per cent. to 4.7 per cent.; French Indo-China from 8.3 per cent. to 9.3; Siam from 8.9 per cent. to 10.5 per cent.; and India from 2.5 per cent. to 3.0 per cent. Total imports from the British Empire fell from 22.4 per cent. of the total to 19.7 per cent.

In regard to imports of Piece Goods, Great Britain accounted for 42.8 per cent. of the total for the first nine months of 1932, but this figure fell to 28.6 per cent. for the corresponding period of this year. Japan increased her share from 6.5 per cent. to 8.8 per cent.; North China from 3.7 per cent. to 4.6 per cent.; Italy from 1.0 per cent. to 1.8 per cent.; France from 0.3 per cent. to 0.4 per cent.; and Other Countries from 13.2 per cent. to 14.0 per cent.

FIVE YEARS' COMPARISON

"ORDERS IS ORDERS"

At The King's Theatre

The King's Theatre was packed yesterday for an all-British programme. First of all those great favourites the Band of the South Wales Borderers gave an admirable programme of music, which everyone enjoyed, judging by the real enthusiasm with which every number was received.

Then the British film "Orders is Orders" was shown, and it is no exaggeration to say that it is far and away the best British comedy yet filmed. It shows a clash between the staidest of all institutions, the British Army, and a rascally, slap dash American film company headed by hair brained guy from Kansas City as Director. He and his gang come to Aldershot to make a film; they positively rush the place and take three films—one a melodrama of Bombo, and the next, of all things, "Guy Fawkes and the Gunpowder Plot" (of which the hectic director hears for the first time) and then a Shell Film. How Charlotte Greenwood, the assistant director—dressed in wonderful plus fours, exactly like those of her "boss"—wangles the Colonel, and fixes the orders, is a riot of really amusing incident—and then in the middle, when the Colonel is himself, "doing his stuff," the Brigadier arrives! There the film company meets its Waterloo. "I'm about fed up with film fatigue," says the R.S.M., and in less than no time the company has left, and to the soldiers relief discipline returns.

Cyril Maude, the Colonel, left the stage some years ago to retire, but the films have got him, and long may they keep him—one of the cheeriest, most charming and accomplished actors of the day.

United States," he said. "As a nation we are overwhelmingly against engaging in war and we are not seeking additional territory at the expense of our neighbours. The United States does not desire to annex Canada or any part thereof, or Mexico or Cuba."

"A very great majority of the inhabitants of the world feel the same way about territorial expansion or getting rich and powerful at the expense of their neighbours. It is only in the case of such people of the world as still have imperialistic desires for expansion and domination in their minds or hearts that threats to world peace lie."

"WHEN LADIES MEET"

Excellent Picture at Queen's

When Ladies meet, now showing at the Queen's Theatre, is excellent entertainment. It tells of the unexpected meeting of two women. One the wife of a philandering publisher, and the other the author of an extremely modern novel who can bring her theories to bear on real life.

The picture is spicy and racy with a tempo that never lets down. See this picture and spend a jolly time at the Queen's Theatre.

Sally started on the road to fame in "The Goodbye Kiss," which has little short of a sensation.

There followed roles in such pictures as "Dry Martin," "Trial Marriage," "Broadway Daddies," "Show of Shows," "The Long, Long Trail," "Doughboys," and "She Couldn't Say No." She was leading lady for Buster Keaton in "Sailor's Holiday," and enacted a prominent role with Marie Dressler in "Reducing."

The signing of a contract with Fox Films advanced her to greater fame, for it brought her co-starring part with James Dunn in "Bad Girl." The picture made history and established Sally and Dunn as an outstanding team. They followed with "Over the Hill," "Dance Team" and "Sailor's Luck," which is to be seen at the King's Theatre on Wednesday.

The rest of the programme is quite interesting, particularly a short comedy entitled "Sold at Auction." A Paramount featurette called "Strange as it seems," showing some of the oddities to be encountered in life.

What is a Torch Song?

Everyone seems to know that any one of that beguiled and love-crossed class of women who cries out her heartaches with syncope is a "torch singer." But on the matter of the nature of the song and its origin only contradicting explanations are found.

On the Paramount set, filming, Torch Singer, in which Claudette Colbert and Ricardo Cortez are featured, various theories of the term's derivation are propounded.

The most commonly accepted version is that of Ralph Rainger, who is writing the picture's music, and who incidentally wrote "Moanin' Low" for "The First Little Show." This piece became the best-know of all "torch songs." Rainger explains it is a "lover-come-back-to-me" song, offered by a singer who is supposed to be "carrying a torch in her heart," for the man who got it there.

Going back beyond the advent of "Moanin' Low" is the explanation of another music writer on the Torch Singer set. "Back in 1934," he said, "a cabaret entertainer named Tommy Lyman sang in a New York cafe that he had no electric lights. Bright torches flamed along the walls. With the gathering fame of Lyman, Broadway commentators often referred to his contribution as 'torch-lit songs.' 'Still another version is 'torture song,' the word 'torch' being a corruption of 'torture'."

DEMILLE DOES RESEARCH

Cecil B. DeMille's research for his latest Paramount picture, This Day and Age, was accomplished by visiting high schools and watching the workings of student self-government.

THIS WEEK OF GRACE

Miss Gracie Fields has a wonderful command of plebeian sentiment and humour, expressed without any false shame or attempts to refine what is naturally robust and exuberant. And in this film, which has a strongly local and English flavour, she has many opportunities to display her talent. There is an admirable picture of the Milroy family, of which she is a daughter, running a garage with the greatest incompetence and gusto, disputing at table, and always enjoying themselves. The temptation to contrast such a picture of plebeian bliss with another of the effete and miserable aristocracy was no doubt irresistible, but it is perhaps a pity that it was not resisted. It is true that the vitality of the Milroys, as one would expect of any family to which Miss Fields belonged, instantly triumphs over all obstacles and quite vanquishes a few feeble attempts to snub them. As to Miss Fields herself, she not only sets a dual estate to rights and acquires a complete education merely by reading Gray's "Elegy" aloud, but she also marries a viscount and compels him to run a garage. All of which is as it should be, but there are too many passages in which a crude and uncomfortable humour is extracted from the awkwardness of the plebeians in high life.

ECHOES OF 1859

29.—Hongkong's Woes Get to England

Most of our readers will be delighted to observe that there is every prospect of punishment overtaking the unscrupulous mal-administrators of H.M. Government in this Colony. The cry of the "petty squabbles of a small Colony," and all the lying "poopooism" that dishonest toadies are so clever in framing, gave plenty of slack rope for the harpies to walk off with. It has taken a vast deal to bring them up, but the reel has run out, or they were ready for thrice the quantity. Such a set of legislative monkeys we are right sure never had such a revel at the expense of British Institutions before. A monkey is a very fine fellow in the rigging when there is no catching him—he can jabber and make faces and grimaces, but put him in his box and won't he stroke his head, rub his belly, sigh, turn up his eyes and make out a case of "ad misericordiam" as Botherwidge is in the habit of doing when all other means have failed. We do submit our simile is not in the least overdrawn. Take "trial by jury" for instance, which is an immense card with us Brits. Why that has either been defeated by putting cases in such a manner to juries that they felt compelled to do as they are told, or he was tutored by not being allowed to go to the juries at all. Then again look at the admission of the Press to the Council Chamber—why that is dodged by keeping the meetings secret.

It will be observed that Earl Grey brought the Newcastle petition before the House of Lords on March 3. His Lordship left all papers connected with the matter at the Colonial Office, some days previously. We have a letter which states that the proceedings are most unfairly reported, for that the London Press have such a contempt for Bawring, that dragging him before the public is most unpalatable to them. Really we can find no type to the man but Titus Oates. The second part of Earl Grey's address was most potent, and the Earl of Carnarvon, so far from attempting to justify Bowring or palliate his conduct, spoke of Mr. Anstey in terms of actual praise. Macleodfield and Birmingham have followed the example of Newcastle, and meetings have been called at other places. Mr. Anstey would be home in a few days after date of last advice.

We hear that Mr. Bruce and Admiral Hope were to leave Singapore immediately—the first in the Magicienne, expected tomorrow, and the second Esk expected in all this week.

We sadly fear that Colonel Cairne will be appointed Governor. All we can say is that if such a calamity is to befall us, it shall not be borne quietly. Fancy that pampered spendthrift, going to Dr. Bridges, and endeavouring to persuade him, against his will, to take the bench.

SECOND INTERPORT TRIAL

Another Unimpressive Display

F. A. MUNN BADLY INJURED

An unfortunate accident marred the Second Interport Trial at the H.K.C.C. ground on Saturday. Opening the innings for Mr. Owen-Hughes XI with E. R. Duckitt, after A. W. Hayward XI had declared at 135 for 8, F. A. Munn, the K.C.C. batsman, was struck on the head by the first ball he received from Frank Goodwin, and collapsed on the ground, and was carried off the field in a semi-conscious state. Professor Gerrard, who was watching the game, attended him and he was later taken to the Naval Hospital, suffering from concussion.

The ball had been getting up very awkwardly the whole afternoon, showing the poor state of the wicket, and the accident to Munn was the culmination of a series of narrow escapes by other batsmen.

Several of the bowlers told our representative that the wicket was tremendously hard and prevented proper control of the ball—leg breaks became "googlies" and a few shooters found their way in amid some unintended body line stuff. The ground definitely needs more watering. The first Interport is only two weeks away and there is little enough time to get the wicket into shape by then. As for the actual play, went, although six batsmen passed the twenties, the manner in which the runs were made, with one or two exceptions, could not have been very gratifying to the selectors. "Teddy" Fincher, after an unimpressive display, retired with 30, in which he was given three distinct "lives" and one or two possible "chances." Lieutenant Hamilton, who got 25, should have been caught before he had scored and was missed three times after that. Owen-Hughes, generally so confident, made a rather shaky 50 not out, and Captain Williams' 41 did not approach his display of last week.

E. R. Duckitt was a prominent exception. His 32, although it was not made in too good time, was the result of confident and dogged batting, in which he gave nothing like a chance and one cannot recall more than two balls that definitely beat him. He also fielded well.

About the other batsmen there is very little to say. Captain Garthwaite and A. M. Rodrigues, the "Variety" skipper, again failed and will probably go out. In the case of A. H. Madar, the I. B. C. captain, it is a little different. He has also failed twice in the trials, but on the other hand he has already been tried under difficult circumstances and has proved his quality. The writer's impression was that he tried to glance a ball that should have been blocked and was deservedly bowled.

Madar's form at the nets and in practice matches shows that with him it is more loss of luck than of form and perhaps it would pay the selectors to give him another trial.

Of the bowlers, F. D. Pereira had the best analysis and bowled better than last week. A. R. Munn took only a wicket for 21 runs but again had very bad luck, the fieldsmen letting him down badly. Burnett bowled fairly well but Goodwin, probably "put off" by the accident to Munn, was not at his best, and the others did not impress.

As to the fielding, as already intimated, the less said the better. Seldom have there been so many missed catches in a representative match, and the ground work left a lot to be desired.

E. R. Duckitt was a prominent exception. On the whole, if the Trial has taught us anything it is that our batsmen need shaking up and our fielders waking up.

THE VOLUNTEERS

Keen Contest For Dowbiggin Trophy

The annual competition for the Dowbiggin Trophy (riding school event) for the Machine Gun Troops of the Hong Kong Volunteer Defence Corps was held at the Troop Stable, Causeway Bay, yesterday morning, when a large number of people turned out to witness some really smart riding.

Capt. A. H. Fotts, O. C. Machine Gun Troops, was in charge of the parade while Col. L. G. Bird, Capt. Mould and Capt. Bagge-Jones were the judges.

The competition entailed the ordinary school movement as a whole, during which mounts were changed. So far, as the individual competitors were concerned, they had to take a brushwood jump and climb and descend a bank.

The horsemanship displayed was of a high standard and so far as the first five men were concerned, they were told to take an extra jump before the points were finally awarded. They were Sergt. Crawford, Sergt. Ferguson and Tpr. Taylor, Lammer and Morgan. After this the judges announced that Sergt. Crawford was the winner (he also won the prize last year) while Sergt. Ferguson and Tpr. Taylor were second, being only half a point behind.

Prize for recruits (presented by Capt. Fotts) was won by Tpr. Barrow, and at a luncheon held at the Corps Headquarters in the afternoon, Major Dowbiggin presents the prizes to the winners.

Among those who watched the competition at Causeway Bay were, Capt. Wilkinson, Adjutant of the Volunteers, Lt. Galletly, Capt. Williams, Capt. R. R. Davies, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Frost, Mr. R. M. Wood, Miss Bonnar, Miss Coppin and Miss Dunnett.

TRAFALGAR DAY CELEBRATIONS

Cenotaph Ceremony And Navy Ball

BIG CROWDS WATCH IMPRESSIVE SCENE

Trafalgar Day was observed with due ceremony in Hong Kong on Saturday, and in addition to an impressive parade at the Cenotaph, many social and sporting functions were held, including the Navy Ball at the Peninsula Hotel and a Ship's Company Dance on board H.M.S. Tamar. In the evening there was a searchlight display, while at the Cafe de Luxe of the China Emporium, a special Trafalgar Day Dinner Dance was held.

From the early hours of Saturday morning, a number of ladies, dressed in sailor frocks, carried out a sale of flags, and, not content with making a clean sweep of the town and other districts, they invaded the races at Happy Valley where they carried on excellent business.

AT THE CENOTAPH. Shortly before 11 a.m. His Excellency the Governor, Sir William Peel, accompanied by Captain D. Euan Wallace M.P., Civil Lord of the Admiralty, and attended by Captain R. F. Walter, R.A., A.D.C., was met by Commodore Frank Elliott, R.N., O.B.E., Captain E.

M. Mannors, R.N., and Paymaster Lieut. Commander F. R. Porter, R.N.

Representatives of the Navy League were introduced to the Governor, after which His Excellency laid a wreath on the Cenotaph. After him came the Commodore, Captain D. Euan Wallace, Captain E. M. Mannors, representatives of the Deep Sea Scouts, the Hong Kong Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve, Sea Scouts, members of the Legislative Council, naval detachments and others.

The Royal Marine Bands of the Cruisers Suffolk and Berwick and Royal Marine Buglers then sounded the "Last Post," followed by the "Reveille" by the buglers.

H.E. the Governor then inspected the parade. The buildings surrounding the Cenotaph were crowded with spectators, officers and others watching from the balconies of the Hong Kong Club, where waves of members were also accommodated.

The units which took part consisted of platoons from the Cruiser Berwick and the Eighth Destroyer

Flotilla, two sections from the Sub-marines and from H.M.S. Folkestone, one platoon of Royal Marines drawn from the Suffolk and Berwick and the Royal Marine Bands from both the latter vessels.

In addition there were representatives from the China Coast Officers' Guild, eight members of the newly formed Hong Kong Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve, 18 Deep Sea Scouts and 24 Sea Scouts.

SEARCHLIGHT

A searchlight display, with not a few rockets, was given in the evening.

First a dozen or so beams "flooded" H.M.S. Suffolk, still flying Lord Nelson's Trafalgar signal. Then the searchlights were turned on the Peninsula Hotel and the replica of Nelson's Column. The lights then swept the new Sailors' and Soldiers' Home in Wanchai and began a sweeping movement along the Praya.

They then played on prominent buildings in Hong Kong and in Kowloon and were later turned skywards, where they circled, crossing and recrossing one another.

The display ended at 7.45 p.m. when H.M.S. Suffolk presented a brilliant spectacle, her hull, funnels, masts and bridge outlined in electric lights.

At 10 o'clock the illuminations on the Suffolk were extinguished and one beam from her stern searchlight was trained on the Rose Room of the Peninsula Hotel.

GERMAN CLUB DRAW WITH JATS

In a friendly match with the crack Jat Regiment of the Marina ground on Saturday, the German Club surprised their doughty opponents by holding them to a draw.

They actually opened the scoring, Mueller getting through early in the game and it was not till just before half-time that the Jats could equalise.

After that the soldiers played better but they could not pierce the Club's defence and the game ended 1-1.

RADIO'S EASY WIN

The Radio Sports Club scored a big win over the Mule Corps yesterday in a friendly match at Caroline Hill when they returned a margin of 10 goals to nil.

The Radios were much the superior team and would have scored more frequently had they extended themselves. They were too fast for the Mule Corps who showed signs of want of practice.

The following represented the Radio Club:—M. Singh; P. Singh; J. S. Gravel; Mohinder Singh; Hanib; Karnal Singh; K. Singh; G. Singh; Avtar Singh; Prem Singh and F. A. Kemp.

PICK POCKETS PUNISHED

Three Chinese, Kok Ching Hoo, Ng Fook and Lai Lun, all described as unemployed, were charged before Mr. Schofield at the Central Magistracy on Saturday morning with having stolen the purses from three pedestrians.

It was stated by the Police that the three defendants were arrested separately in the Colony on Friday.

After hearing the evidence, His Worship sentenced the first defendant to three months' imprisonment with hard labour, and the second and third to four months' and five months' hard labour respectively.

The third defendant was also placed under the Police supervision for two years.

SPEY ROYAL CUP

CRAIGENGOWER WINS FROM KOWLOON DOCKS

The final of the Spey Royal Cup between Craigengower, O. C. and the Kowloon Dock Recreation Club resulted in a win for the former by six shots, the scores being 22-18 in their favour.

The players on both sides found difficulty on the Civil Service Green and the Dockites were the first to settle down to anything like true form. Lapsley who skipped for the Dock was playing a great game. But Brown did not give him the same support as he gave Omar in the interplay of the previous week. J. V. Ramay was brilliant in flashes and often responsible for the ultimate counter. W. Greig played quite a good game and helped the Kowloon team considerably in the early stages of the game.

Buchanan was somewhat disappointing for the winners' rink, but both Bradbury and Beer were in good trim, though the former was frequently deceived by the green. Beer was on the whole the more reliable of the two players. Omar had a difficult time in the middle stages of the game, but towards the end he played extremely well.

At the end of the nineteenth end, Kowloon Dock were leading by 18-17. It looked like anybody's game until a mistake by Lapsley enabled Craigengower to score five to lead by 22-18. Requiring five shots to win and four to tie, the Kowloon Dockites never had a look-in the more so since Craigengower had their woods well mixed up and actually won the end by two shots, to bring their total to 24-18 at the finish.

The teams were as follows:—Craigengower: G. L. Buchanan, B. W. Bradbury, H. Beer and U. M. Omar (Skip). Kowloon Dock R.C.: J. V. Ramay, W. Greig, J. C. Brown and R. Lapsley.

RUGGER

Club Beat The Navy

The Club had no difficulty in beating the Royal Navy, by two goals and try (19 points), to a try (3 points) in the Rugger match played on Saturday on the Happy Valley ground. Ferguson scored three tries, and was always dangerous and ready to seize an opening. Rigg and Griffiths also scored for the Club and Pascoe for the Navy. The sailors had a piece of bad luck, however, for what looked like a brilliant try by Woolton was disallowed, the touch judge deciding that Woolton's foot had been over the line.

The game opened with a several forward rushes headed by Munro, who played a very fine game for the Club. W.H.B. Rigg then took a nice pass from R. H. Griffiths to go over near the corner flag to open the scoring. Rigg failed to convert.

Ferguson's first try scored a few minutes later was the result of a brilliant run. Selby missed an easy goal kick in front of the posts. Ferguson's second try, just before half-time was equally spectacular. Rigg took the kick and converted.

The opening of the second half saw a clever move by Darley who transferred neatly to Woolton. Woolton raced down the line for a try that was disallowed owing to his foot being in touch. The Navy gained their try two minutes later. Pascoe leaping over a heap of players near the flag.

Early in the second half Whitham, the Club full back was injured and Cumming took his place. The Club forwards were greatly handicapped, and Lt. N. L. Evans, was a constant source of worry to them. However, their superiority outside told and Ferguson added his third try, running half the length of the field. Rigg failed to convert.

The Club's final try came several minutes before the end of the game when Griffiths, who snatched the ball up in the loose, scored between the posts. He converted his own try.

The following were the teams: Club:—J. P. Whitham; J. J. Ferguson; W. H. B. Rigg; R. H. Griffiths; G. P. Lamert; A. C. Jenkins; J. A. R. Selby; G. C. Moutrie; E. F. Walker; L. H. Bradford; F. R. Birch; S. H. Garrod; K. A. Munro; G. A. Stewart and A. D. Cumming.

Reserves:—H. C. Mesko, A. Hutchison and R. I. Stillard. Navy:—Mae. Benson (H.M.S. Suffolk); Sto. Curtis (H.M.S. Berwick); Comdr. Surtees (H.M.S. Suffolk); A. B. Wootton (H.M.S. Wren); Mid Darley (H.M.S. Suffolk); Lt. Evans (H.M.S. Suffolk); Lt. Siker. Altringham (H.M.S. Suffolk); Mech. Willis (H.M.S. Suffolk); Lt. Brown (H.M.S. Berwick); Lt. Dreyer (H.M.S. Berwick); Sto. Masters (H.M.S. Berwick); Ldg. Cook Pascoe (H.M.S. Berwick).

Mr. Shao Li Tze, Chairman of Shenai and General Tang Yu Chen, bandit suppression commander in Shenai, were among those who witnessed the departure from Hants of Mr. Sun Tung Kang, the young Chinese aviator, for Changteh in Honan last Thursday. A brief stop at Loyang will probably be made by the aviator before proceeding to Changteh. From Changteh he will fly to Talyuan after a stop for a few days.

A SURFBOARD "REGATTA"

Informal Sports At Causeway Bay

At Causeway Bay typhoon shelter yesterday, a few surfboard enthusiasts held a very informal regatta with half a dozen surfboards between them. The programme was a brief one, but owing to a matter of an hour's delay at the start, which was timed for noon, the "regatta" was not over until 2.30 p.m.

The first race on the card was a half mile race. It began at one end of the typhoon shelter and finished at the opposite end and was won by W. L. Butt who led from start to finish. R. Maynard was second and L. Rosa Pereira third. Others starters were Paget and Lamert.

A ladies race drew four entries. It was over a hundred yards and Miss Doris Hunt won from Miss B. Pestonji with Miss M. da Rosa third and Mrs. McMahon next.

The men's 100 yards fell also to W. L. Butt with Paget and Lawrence finishing second and third.

A boy's race over 100 yards drew six starters, H. Guterres, winning from N. Lee with A. L. Rumjahn third.

A pick-up-side team race and a ladies team race brought the programme to a close.

The competitors came to the typhoon shelter from the V.R.C. in 12

To Be Forbidden In Canton?

According to a message from Canton, the Heads of the Canton Peace Preservation Bureau and the Bureau of Social Affairs have unanimously decided that the wearing of present day fashionable dresses must be abolished, as some of the Chinese women who wear these dresses, look half-naked.

In order to preserve the good old Chinese customs of propriety and modesty the authorities of these two Bureaux are now drafting rules for the abolition of such dresses. It is reported that as soon as these rules have been approved by the Government they will be published for the information of all Chinese women in Canton.

three small motor boats. A handful of people were at a King's slipway at noon to see the events, but the motor boats did not appear until 12.15 and the first race did not commence until an hour afterwards. A few Chinese collected at the finishing point to watch this novel form a racing in the water, but otherwise there was no indication that a "regatta" was on.

THE RESULTS. Half Mile (Men): 1, W. Butt; 2, R. Maynard; 3, L. Rosa Pereira. 100 Yards (Ladies): 1, Doris Hunt; 2, Betty Pestonji; 3, M. da Boz. 100 Yards (Men): 1, W. L. Butt; 2, Paget; 3, W. Lawrence. 100 Yards (Boys): 1, L. Guterres; 2, N. Lee; 3, A. L. Rumjahn.

THE BRITISH IRON AND STEEL INDUSTRY

We have been reviewing in this column, from time to time, the leading British commercial and industrial activities, with a view to showing, with the aid of statistics, how the economic position of England stands. In these days, when optimistic phrases come readily to the lips—and they at least preferable to needless pessimism—figures are the best guide. They may not be exciting, but they are good evidence.

The recent amalgamation of two great steel smelting firms on the North-East Coast has drawn attention to the condition and prospects of the British iron and steel industry. Like many other of the basic industries, the iron and steel foundries have been hard hit by post-war depression, and, particularly, by the slump of the last three or four years. There are, however, many signs of better business during 1933, some of which, namely, those for production and overseas trade, will be considered here.

Every month, the National Federation of Iron and Steel Manufacturers, issue figures showing the output in Great Britain of pig-iron and of steel ingots and castings. The figures for July last show a considerable improvement on those for last year. The production of pig iron in July this year amounted to 343,900 tons, against 292,000 tons in July, 1932. The output of steel ingots and castings in July, 1933, was 567,500 tons, compared with 438,400 tons in July of last year. They like those for the other months of this year indicate a considerable expansion of business.

The British Board of Trade also give monthly figures for the imports and exports of iron and steel. The contrast with July of last year is not quite so satisfactory as in the case of production, but, considering the difficulties that beset overseas trade in these days, they are not too disappointing. The value of exports of iron and steel in July last was £2,441,187, as against £2,413,052, a small percentage increase of 1.1 per cent. This was, however, gained on a smaller tonnage, the exports in July, 1933, being 156,243 tons, against 158,220 tons.

More significant of recent changes in the industries is the drop in imports of iron and steel. These imports are to a large extent semi-finished steel products which serve as the raw materials to the re-rolling industry, centred chiefly in the Birmingham and Sheffield areas. The imports of iron and steel into Great Britain in July, 1932, were 118,740 tons, valued at £548,982. By July, 1933, these imports had fallen to 63,434 tons, valued at £432,073. In other words, the fall in quantity was 46.5 per cent, and the decline in value 21.2 per cent. This striking fall in the quantity of imported iron and steel is due to two outstanding causes. First, there is the devaluation of the pound sterling, caused by Great Britain's departure from gold in 1931, and, next, the result of the fairly high tariff of 33½ per cent on imported steel imposed by the Tariff Advisory Board last year. Of course, there has been at the same time what may be termed the natural decline due to the general trade slump, but as the decline is proportionately much greater than in the case of exports, the factors alluded to above are undoubtedly the main cause of this falling off of imports. The relative position is shown by the following figures:—

First half of 1931.—Imports, 1,278,777; exports, 999,214.
First half of 1932.—Imports, 967,493; exports, 952,538.
First half of 1933.—Imports, 469,473; exports, 904,227.
Now, while the decline in imports must be naturally gratifying to the British producers of raw steel, the other section of the trade, namely, the re-rollers referred to, can only be expected to approve of the tariff

OBITUARY

COL. A. H. K. WATSON

Impressive Funeral
On Saturday

FULL MILITARY HONOURS

The funeral of the late Colonel Arthur Hugh Kinnaird Watson, Assistant Director of Military Supplies and Transport, who died at the War Memorial Hospital on Friday evening, after a short illness, took place on Saturday afternoon at the Protestant Cemetery, Happy Valley. The Rev. Lewis Bryan, Army Chaplain, conducted the service.

The deceased was accorded full military honours. The South Wales Borderers provided the band and drums, the firing party and the escort, composed of the remainder of the Battalion, under the command of Lt.-Col. G. T. Raikes, officer commanding, and Major R. G. Lochner, second in command.

The coffin mounted on a gun carriage drawn by horses of the Indian Army Service Corps, was draped with a Union Jack on top of which rested the late Colonel's plumed helmet and sword. It was preceded by the 1st Battalion of the South Wales Borderers, the regimental colours, being carried by Lieut. A. J. Stocker and Lieut. A. C. Hamilton, and was followed by detachments from the Royal Army Service Corps, the Indian Army Service Corps, the Royal Army Medical Corps and the Royal Army Ordnance Corps.

The pall bearers were Colonel F. P. Nosworthy, D.S.O., M.C., Lt. Colonel J. H. Thom, D.S.O., R.A., Colonel S. Boyd, D.S.O., Colonel M. F. Grant, M.D., Colonel L. C. Lewis, O.B.E., R.A.S.C., and Lt. Colonel R. M. W. Marsden, M.C.R.E.

The whole of the General staff were present, and among others were: Captain R. F. Walter, A.D.C. (representing His Excellency the Governor, (Sir William Peel), Brigadier R. B. Cousins (representing the G.O.C., His Excellency Major General O. C. Borrell), Commodore F. Elliot, a representative from the Royal Air Force, Mr. A. E. Shields and Mr.

if, after a reasonable interval, supplies and prices of their raw materials (now to be obtained from their compatriots) compare satisfactorily with the goods displaced. Hence arises the supreme importance of the problem of "rationalization" of the iron and steel industry. An answer is required to this question: now that the British steelmakers are protected, what steps, if any, are they proposing to take to reduce their costs of production so as to enable the finishing sections of the industry successfully to compete with foreign rivals. A few words may be devoted here to this question of rationalization. First to define it. It is, in brief, planning with a view to reducing costs of production. The mere reduction of labour costs by dismissals or wage reductions is not rationalization; but the installation of more efficient plant and machinery, even if, as it often does, it displaces labour, comes under this term. So, too, does the organisation of collective salesmanship and the delimitation of market areas, and all other methods which promote production and cut costs. The need for the rationalization of the iron and steel industry has been urged by more than one enquiry and in the spring of last year the Tariff Advisory Committee, when granting a measure of protection to the industry, expressed its opinion that this protection would not of itself "suffice to place the industry in a position to play its proper part in the national economy unless it was accompanied by a considerable measure of reorganization." Since that date the National Committee of Iron and Steel Manufacturers have drafted a scheme for the reorganization of their industry. The British Government is certainly anxious to see the industry "put its house in order," but wisely prefers that this action shall come from the industry itself rather than have this order imposed from outside. This follows the precedent of the Coal Mines Act of 1930, where the coal industry reorganised itself while Government compulsory powers were held in reserve. The recent scheme of amalgamation of two great Tees-side concerns, viz.: Dorman, Long and Co. and the Cargill, Fleet South Durham interests, is a welcome sign that the more influential of the steelmakers realise fully the direction in which the industry should move.

If Gossip We Must

BY "STELLA"

The Navy Ball

That the Navy Ball would be a success was pre-evident, but the Commodore must have cause for rejoicing in the fact that a precedent was set this year which in the future will be pleasant to equal but exceedingly difficult to excel. Mr. Taggart is to be congratulated on providing a really first-class show. There was at first some criticism of the fact that only the Rose Room was thrown open for dancing, leaving the other big room clear for supper; but it proved a most excellent plan. Dinner had been served in the first floor lounge, so there were no tables to be made room for; chairs round the walls and along the corridor gave plenty of seating space. Even in the beginning the floor was never uncomfortably crowded, and from the supper interval onwards there was just the ideal of space.

Beyond the dais and some flags, there was no extra decoration but a libel from each warship in the harbour. These were arranged along the walls—H.M.S. Tamar over Lady Peel's chair, destroyers and submarines along the sides, cruisers at each end. (I wonder how many people tried to tell the time by H.M.S. Suffolk? No, no reflections intended, but their lifebelt hung exactly where one would expect to see a clock!)

Uniforms and Autumn Dresses
However, now it is cool enough for the ladies to produce their new autumn dresses, there is no need for decorations. The scene was delightful—colour, glitter, and gaiety everywhere. At least ninety per cent of the men were in uniform. (I was rather surprised to see so very few civilians, since the original idea of Hongkong's first Navy Ball was to bring Service and civilians into closer contact). Of these few, too, the majority had qualified for a uniform of some kind, either in the past war or some future one. (The Yacht Club of course were well represented.)

The bonne bouche of the evening was the Hornpipe Display by the boys of H.M.S. Suffolk. This was magnificent—there is no other word of time and step that would have done credit to the most perfectly trained of Mr. Cochran's choruses. And though they must have been both hot and tired after so much energy, in response to a storm of clapping they gave us the whole thing through again as perfectly as before. Congratulations

On Friday two cases of enteric were reported.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

At to-morrow's Rotary Club meeting Rotarian R. P. Dunlop will speak on "Delicate Aids to the Senses."

The annual meeting of shareholders of the Hong Kong and Canton Ice Manufacturing Co., Ltd. takes place at the company's offices on November 8th, at 11.45 a.m.

Notice is given in the Gazette that from Wednesday, 1st November, the provision of diving rafts, guard boats, etc. at Repulse Bay will be discontinued for the winter months.

According to the Government Gazette the Divorce Ordinances (No. 35 of 1932, and No. 9 of 1933) will come into operation on the 1st day of November. We understand that about six cases will come up for hearing in the near future.

The excuse of being out of work was given by Lee Wing to Mr. Bal-four at Central Magistracy on Saturday, when he was charged with stealing six iron bars from a house under construction in Peak Road. He was given one month's hard labour.

EMBEZZLEMENT OF POLICE FUNDS

Case Against Ng Wong Tsoi.
Continued.

Further evidence against Ng Wong Tsoi, the police shroff who is charged with embezzling sums of money belonging to the police Department, was taken before Mr. Schofield at Central Magistracy on Saturday. Fourteen charges have been preferred against him, involv-

both to the boys and their instructors.

Don and Sally and the Worth sisters gave performances as polished as ever, finishing up with a glorious, burlesque ensemble. For this they were dressed in white shorts and tennis shoes, and from the first moment they strode up the room they contrived to do everything as clumsily and inefficiently as possible, on the lines of a group of high-school girls at their first Russian ballet lesson. It was a most effective scene, and called for a hilarious encore. These dancers are certainly an asset to Hongkong's night life, and we hope to see much more of them.

What The Women Wore

But I am sure that what you really want to hear about is what the women wore and how they looked! Then I must tell you that pride of place went to Mrs. Butler, in one of the most delightful frocks I have ever seen—a sage-blue crepe model, with a touch of the monastic in its long wide sleeves bordered with white and a high white cowl collar dipping to a deep U at the back. This was so outstanding that it is hard to place the others in order, so hard that perhaps it would be better not to attempt it. Most were interesting, some definitely beautiful.

Several secured their effect by intriguing details. Amongst these I would mention Mrs. Murphy's puff sleeves of pastel blue and white velvet. Mrs. Shaw's most patriotic red, white, and blue ruff. Mrs. Jenkin's dark green cape. Mrs. Wolf's star-sprinkled shoulders. Mrs. Stafford-Smith's black and white checks. Mrs. Brown's black net frills. Miss Bird's silver strappings (how does she get into them?) Miss Churchill's detachable sleevelets, and Mrs. Shields's tall daughter's two-colour effect.

There were a few pink frocks, Lady Peel in pink lace being supported by Mrs. Elliot, also in pink. I saw Mrs. Shields, on the platform, too, looking regal in a striking shade of blue. Black was conspicuous by its absence. Mrs. McAvoy, Miss Alabaster and Miss Tuxford being almost the sole wearers. White still seems the most popular, usually in satin, though I saw one most attractive model in white velvet. White satin wearers were Mrs. Rais, Mrs. Binney Mrs. Kemble, Mrs. Atkinson, Mrs. Evans, Miss Lane, and Miss Cooper. Mrs. Cock and Mrs. Hall contrived to look both chic and sophisticated, as also did Mrs. Whitham. Mrs. Taggart was very charming in white lace; but on the whole, lace seems to have given way to heavier materials as the cold weather approaches.

Mrs. Dudley King was in a striking red dress, Mrs. Tinson in blue satin, and Mrs. McKelchan in grey. Among the younger set I noticed Miss Mackie in white, the two Hancock girls, one in green and one in pink, the two King girls, also one in green-blue and one in pink, Miss Hay-Eady in white with blue flowers, and Miss Sutton in white with red spots. Miss Johnson in pale blue taffeta, Miss Hance in yellow, and Miss Potter in grey satin trimmed with fur.

To the Editor:—
Pretty Grim, I fear, but I didn't get home till 4 a.m. and feel rather unwell!

THE RACES, SATURDAY, 21ST OCTOBER 1933

At least three races gave very close finishes last Saturday, and the handicapper is to be congratulated for bringing in three fields and literally covering them with the proverbial sheet.

In the second race "Evening Star" ran a good third with the crushing weight of 170 lbs., against ponies some two inches bigger. One would like to see him raised to a better class and given a weight more conducive to galloping. The 14 hand ponies in Hongkong seem so good but many of them have to carry such big weights.

The interesting part of the third race was Bistre who coming up the straight appeared to be tiring, his jockey eased him up for a few strides, made an excellent second run and was only beaten by a short head. All this sounds easy but it takes considerable patience on the part of the jockey, but with a game pony it pays.

For the Trafalgar Scurry, a race exclusive for our naval visitors. There were more jockeys than horses, which is always a good thing. The start was a flag one, all the ponies were looking for their old friend "the gate." In this race, only 2½ furlongs, there was no time for anything except to sit down and ride. The race was won by The Loafer (I will concede the wit to others) in very good form. I was struck with the good riding of the Naval officers, who rode their horses out without resorting to that habit of punishing their mounts with the whip.

While on the subject of the whip, Burmaster got it all the way up the straight, he won, so the means justified the end, but it is not altogether a pleasant sight to observe. Nobody minds a pony getting a good clout if he isn't doing his best as after all its no more than he deserves, especially as a racing pony gets the best of food and care, and incidentally patted when he wins.

SINKING OF SUB. L26

Naval Officer Dismissed His Ship

London, Oct. 22.

As a sequel to the stranding of submarine L26, Lieut. Commander Wilfred Edmund Warner in command of L19, and acting Senior Officer of the Second Submarine Flotilla, has been Court-martialled on an indictment of stranding L19 and placing to hazard L18, L21, L26 and L27. He was sentenced to be dismissed his ship and to be severely reprimanded.—Reuter.

A message dated Oct. 9, stated: Three seamen were killed and thirteen badly injured in an explosion which occurred on Submarine L26 at Campbell Town, Scotland.

The craft which was proceeding on her autumn manoeuvres on Friday, grounded on rocks off Killybegs Peninsula. She was refloated yesterday and reached Campobell Town to-day when a terrific explosion wrecked the interior, although the vessel remained afloat.

The craft which was proceeding was heard three-quarters of a mile away and brought pinnaces and motor craft scurrying to the rescue with fire fighting apparatus and first aid outfits.

The explosion occurred in the battery room over which the crew were dining and joking in the mess room when the sudden detonation flung tons of batteries through the floor, splintering the walls and furniture and hurling the sailors in all directions.

Officers and the remainder of the crew donned gas masks and penetrated the flames and fumes, and avoiding the big holes made in the floor, dragged out the injured.

Helpers specially appeared in vessels which drew alongside the submarine and heroically joined to rescue the men who were brought out with blackened, burnt and torn clothes. Ten of them were unconscious and they were all taken in lorries to the village hospital.

The official casualty list is:— 2 killed, 9 seriously injured, and 5 slightly injured.

One of the men who was previously reported killed did not succumb to his injuries.

One of the more seriously injured men recovered consciousness in hospital and gazed at the surgical instruments and murmured, "Pull away lads, do what you like, heave away hearties."

The names of the dead are, Able Seaman Leonard Rhodes and Fred Whiting, both of them being from London.—Reuter.

JAPAN DUMPING RICE IN CHINA

Immediate Enforcement of Tax Requested

The Japanese are co-operating with the Chinese and have closed the passes of the Great Wall. Chinese and Japanese officials are confident that the drive will be completed without delay.—Reuter.

LO KAI HUNG KILLED

King of Canton's Racketeers

(From Our Special Correspondent)

Canton, October 22.

Shot dead by reserve protective guards of Nam Hoi County, the body of Lo Kai Hung, the King of Racketeers, was brought back to Canton this afternoon from Pang Kong Hou on the West River.

Teashop proprietors, river navigation companies and managers of local cinemas expressed relief to-day that the bombing menace from the notorious racket have come to an end. Handsome in appearance and scarcely over 30 years of age, Lo made good money by blackmailing until he was killed yesterday afternoon at Pang Kong Hou, about 40 miles west of Canton.

Because of his bomb-planting activities, Lo Kai Hung was wanted by the military authorities and the county guards of Poon Yue, Nam Hoi, Shun Tek, and Sze Yap, the richest counties of Kwangtung, to which Lo and his small gang has spread terror.

U.S. FARMERS' REVOLT

Demanding Inflation Of Currency

New York, Oct. 22.

The focal point of the farmers strike movement is apparently at Des Moines, Iowa, where Milo Reno, Chairman of the Farmer's Holiday Association in officially proclaiming a strike, stated the administration of the agricultural programme was neither economically sound nor corrective to the farmers' ills. Our demands, petitions and prayers have been made political football for jingo politicians who are controlled by Wall Street money-lords.

The Association has despatched a flying squad to the Middle West States urging farmers to join in the strike, the chief aim being a halting of a foreclosure on farm mortgages. Undoubtedly many farmers in the Middle West are most desperate, but other large bodies are reluctant to embarrass the N.I.R.A. by joining in.

Meantime, Milo Reno is reported to have announced that farmers must not be dispossessed of their homes and violence would be used to prevent such an eventuality if necessary. The effect of the farmers' action is unlikely to be known immediately, though repercussions are partly responsible for the fall in prices on the Stock Exchange.—Reuter.

Europe Still Worried

DISARMAMENT STILL IN THE LIMELIGHT

FUTURE POLICY PUZZLING MANY GOVERNMENTS

(REUTER AND BRITISH WIRELESS)

London, October 21.

The Disarmament situation still occupies, and must continue for some time, to occupy the forefront of public interest, but the tension of a week ago aroused by Germany's sudden withdrawal from the Conference has considerably diminished during the last few days and public attention is being increasingly devoted to the line upon which future policy should run.

AVOID HASTY DECISIONS

Sir John Simon has outpointed it is eminently desirable that those upon whom the responsibilities rest should avoid hasty decisions and exchanges of views with other Governments are obviously part of the procedure, and the fullest and most consideration will continue to be devoted to the position by Cabinet Ministers on the special Sub-Committee and in full council during the next few days.

The Bureau and General Commission of the Disarmament Conference are also due to meet next week.

Meanwhile, the White Paper published by the British Government, last night, is of value in officially placing on record the circumstances in which Sir John Simon's speech at Geneva, last Saturday, was made and the way in which it was received and substantiated by representatives of other nations who had taken part in private negotiations of which his speech gave account.

Referring to next week's meetings of the Bureau and General Commission, the Times says: "It is too much to hope that they will be able to achieve any possible result, but it is not too much to hope that their proceedings may lead to a fresh effort to explore constructive opportunities."

The Conference, as once before, must inevitably be thrown back upon the method of constitution and co-operation between the principal Governments. There is no need to fear that the present interruption of the work of the Conference will lead to any immediate catastrophe. Foremost, Germany has chosen to retire into isolation and to proclaim it in an election which whatever domestic purpose it may serve, can hardly hope to impress opinion abroad. But there is no reason why German isolation should impose inaction on other parties concerned to promote common, and indeed universal interest.

National Isolation

The Manchester Guardian has no sympathy with the advocates of national isolation in any country. It holds that the choice lies between the League and individual force and it says whether the disarmament agreement resting on supervision can be obtained or whether failing the convention we are left with the great dangers, our only hope still is to organise, through the League, a common front not to oppose Germany or any single power but to preserve common peace from a common calamity. It can still be done. The loss of Japan does not impede us and the loss of Germany, were she determined to wash her hands of the international system, would make it more necessary.

Lord Cecil expressing his view in a broadcast speech last night, thought the Conference should continue its effort to get Disarmament convention accepted which will be fair to all parties including Germany. He added, "We must acknowledge the principle that equality ought to be given and contention must provide for such serious steps towards carrying that principle into effect as will show to Germany, and the world, that rules governing her armaments are the same in principle as those governing armaments of any other civilized power. If this process takes longer than we had hoped it is partially because the character of the German policy is still very obscure."

Peaceful speeches by Chancellor Hitler are balanced by warlike propaganda carried on with the approval of some of his chief subordinates.

A Government which threatens Austria and tries to break down the Disarmament Conference must necessarily cause anxiety to other countries in Europe.

and in rearmament and was convinced that the first stage, such as was contemplated, was indispensable in the present state of affairs as it would give experience in the working of the convention. As to the length of the first period, M. Paul Boncour, the French delegate, indicated that the period of four years to which Sir John Simon referred in his speech had not been selected arbitrarily: it was based on a number of considerations to which the French delegation attached great importance.—British Wireless.

COSSACK'S BEAUTY IN GREAT TRIM

Encouraging Display In Mile Race

MR. P. P. BOTELHO WINS NOVICE EVENT

(By "Morning Dew")

By his victory in the opening race over a mile on Saturday, Cossack's Beauty has revealed that he is twice as good now as he was at the Annual Meeting and his time of 1.59 seconds will earn him many supporters when he saddles for the St. Leger at the next meeting.

The day's sport was very interesting, favourites sharing honours with outsiders. There were several close finishes and on the whole, punters judged form accurately.

The "Doubles" provided $548.60 to successful punters, there being 84 backers of Navy Hall, winner of the first leg, and of these 10 nominated King's Parade, winner of the second leg.

Mr. Norman Deitz was thrown in the second race while riding Sunup, but fortunately was not injured and rode again after a short rest.

THE LOAFER WINS TRAFALGAR SCURRY

The opening race drew four starters, Brechin, Jungle Jim, Mayflower and Cossack's Beauty. Brechin and Jungle Jim fought for the lead in the early stages of the race, and Brechin got the better of the argument after the first three furlongs. Cossack's Beauty was lying third about three lengths behind the leaders with Mayflower at further length behind. At the Rock, Brechin was still running strongly, while Cossack's Beauty had closed up with Jungle Jim, the two being a couple of lengths behind the leader. Mayflower also moved up slightly but did not look dangerous.

Cossack's Beauty joined Brechin after entering the straight and then ran home in great style winning by two and a half lengths. Meanwhile Mayflower had passed Jungle Jim and Pan made a big effort to try and draw up to Brechin but without avail, going under by a neck. The winning time of 1.59 did not come as a surprise seeing the fast pace throughout.

Wotin's Debut.
Of the ten ponies in the second race, City of Melbourne and Wotin were first in their stride after the gate went up and the former led for a furlong or so when Wotin passed him and, going at a terrific pace, led by many lengths entering the straight. City of Melbourne made up rapidly on the leader once the straight was reached and Evening Star and Tecumseh, though quite a distance behind, also made up ground. Wotin and City of Melbourne fought out a thrilling finish in front while City of Melbourne and Tecumseh had another duel half length behind. Frost got the better of the argument and just won by a short head from Wotin, with Evening Star a short head behind second pony. The finish was a thrilling one and it was touch and go all the way up the straight.

Mr. Deitz riding Sunup was thrown near Black Rock but fortunately he was not very much hurt.

Another Close Finish
In the third race, over a mile and a quarter for "C" Class, Mike and Bistre figured in another close finish, the two finishing the same distance apart. The judges separated the two however, Mike getting the verdict by a short head from Bistre. A pony which came up with a rush in the home straight was Per Se, and had he had a clear run, he might have won. As it was he was third by a short head to Bistre, after wading through the field on the rails.

The Loafer Pays Well
Punters were not so eager to bet in the three furlong scurry for Naval Officers, owing perhaps to a rumour that some of them had never ridden in a race before. The race itself proved the rumour to be absolutely untrue as the scurry was quite interesting and the jockeys, if no better, were no worse than some of our regular jockeys. Lt. R. Wimmey, riding The Loafer led from start to finish, with Esk finishing second and City of Shanghai third. Just imagine, the favourite finished fourth, after missing the start.

Another Outsider

In the "Victory" Handicap over six furlongs, there were only five starters. This was the first leg of the doubles, and so open was the race that some punters actually took a ticket for the second leg to have a chance of winning.

a shot at the second leg. Valorous was made favourite with Tom and The Tiger next. The Tiger made the running with Tom in close attendance, and Royal Flush, Navy Hall next. There was not too much length between the five runners in the first half mile. The Tiger led into the straight and Valorous, having passed the field except the leader was in close attendance on the outside. Punters were keyed up for an exciting tussle between these two, when Tom and Royal Flush wedged between them, putting Valorous right outside. A furlong more to go and Navy Hall too had joined in among the leaders and it was anybody's race. After another hundred yards, Navy Hall and Tom had drawn in front with The Tiger and Valorous going back and Royal Flush, beaten. Navy Hall striding beautifully shook off Tom to win by half a length. Three lengths behind came Messrs. Tester and Abraham's Skewball. Valorous finished fourth with Royal Flush fifth.

There is no doubt about the fact that Mr. P. P. Botelho is our outstanding novice. Riding Flying Tourist on Saturday, he managed to get the better of two such stalwarts as King's Bounty and Don, ridden respectively by Ferguson and Choy. King's Bounty took the lead early on and Don tried hard to keep pace. Flying Tourist, however, quickly passed Don and lay on the heels of the leader. At the Rock, Flying Tourist passed King's Bounty and came leading into the straight by a neck from the Dynasty candidate, while Don was struggling to keep within two lengths of the leaders. At the Distance Post the leaders were rolling badly and Don shifted up nicely, and it looked for a moment as though he could come through, but Choy took him to the rails just when the gap presented itself and the pony was never again dangerous. Meanwhile Flying Tourist responded very well to Botelho's asking and won by a length from King's Bounty.

The Second Leg
Adam and Powerful King were all the rage for the second leg of the Double over a mile and a quarter, but the favourites found themselves surprised by the excellent form of King's Parade, ridden by Mr. Soares. Adam was well placed all the way, being well up with The Goat who led over the first seven furlongs, but faded out. At the village bend, King's Parade drew in front and was running strongly while Powerful King and Adam were lying well up. Powerful King drew up to the leader just before the Distance Post, but rapidly faded out again while Adam kept up the challenge for a little while longer, but in the end had to go under by a length and a half. Powerful King stayed on long enough to take third place.

Burgomaster's Fine Win
The best bit of riding of the day, as far as me, was provided by Mr. Davis who brought Burgomaster to victory in the last race where there were eight starters. Davis got in front at the half mile post and was fairly comfortable when Partnership, with a heavy weight on his back passed him at the village and led into the straight, drawing away with every stride. The race looked all over, a furlong from home, and Partnership appeared to have won, when

Davis asked Burgomaster for a second effort and the pony came along beautifully to snatch victory from Partnership on the post by a neck. King Salmon also made a big, if somewhat belated, effort to come through in the home straight.

HOME FOOTBALL RESULTS

Tottenham Still Head Senior League Table

ASTON VILLA BOW TO MANCHESTER CITY

The results of the week-end Home football matches did not make any very material change in the league tables, and as the result of holding Everton to a draw, Tottenham still head the first division race for championship honours.

The Arsenal beat Leicester by two clear goals but Aston Villa went down to Manchester City by one goal. The results of the matches, as cabled by Reuter, together with the league tables brought up-to-date are given below:

ATHLETIC v. R. NAVY

The R.E. v. E.A.S.C. match was not played.

Transferring their game to the Railway ground, the above teams fought out a very keen game with the result that the Navy were the victors by the odd goal in nine, although on the general run of the play a draw should have been the result.

The Athletic soon had the Navy defending and the sound play of Woodman in the Navy goal kept the score down.

The Navy opened the score following a fine movement by the whole of the forward line, Barnage beating Li Kwok Ki with a fast low shot.

The Navy added to their lead through the same player who headed into the net from a centre by Fairless.

The Athletic pressed, but failed to follow up their advantage and missed several chances close in.

With a lead of two goals, the Navy forced a corner on resuming and increased their lead through Fairless. The Athletic then pressed and during a scramble in the Navy goalmouth, Au Ping Ming shot into the net to open the score for the Athletic. A penalty kick awarded to the Navy was taken by Langmead who in attempting to place the ball in the net near the post, shot outside. Au Ping Ming got through and sent in a hard shot, the ball striking the post rebounded to Au Kin Fung who shot into the net giving Woodman no chance.

Smith scored for the Navy and shortly after Barnett scored the Navy's fifth goal.

Although three goals down, the Athletic fought gamely and Ho Kar Keung scored for them. Tang Kwong Sun got through the Navy defence and beat Woodman to bring the Athletic's total to four. The Athletic were now on top and had hard luck in not bringing the scores level. Woodman had a busy afternoon and his play in goal won the match for the Navy.

Athletic.—Li Kwok Ki; Lo Hong Cheong, Ho Choi Ying; To Ho Hung, Lai Kwok Chui, Ip Ping Fai; Tang Kwong Sun, Au King Fung, Ho Kar Keung, Au Ping Ming, Fung King Yin.

R. Navy.—Woodman; James West, Purkins, Chamberlain, McQuire; Fairless, Langmead, Barnage, Smith, Barnett.

LINCOLNS v. H.K. CLUB

On the Garrison ground at Sookunpoo, the Lincolns defeated the Club by three goals to one.

The Lincolns opened the score early in the game following a corner kick, McGuinness shooting into the net with a fast rising shot. The Club opened out but Dominy failed to get the ball in the net from close range. The Club continued to press but the forwards failed close in. Howe worked through the defence and a shot had Heath almost beaten, the goalie being lucky to turn round the post. The Lincolns managed to keep the lead at the interval.

The Lincolns pressed from the restart and Fogwill cleared from Higgins. Baldry got away on the right and sent across the goalmouth. Ridley dashing up shot into the net with a first timer. Robertson sent Dominy in again but Heath cleared the shot. The Lincolns returned to the attack and Higgins scored their third goal with a fast cross shot. Bickford was sent down on the left and placing across a fine centre, Fowler rushing in beat Heath with a splendid shot. The Club tried hard to further reduce the lead against them, but the Lincolns defence held out until the final whistle sounded. H.K. Club.—Fogwill; Hynes, S. Strange; Robertson, Skinner, A. Duncan; Fowler, Dominy, Howe, E. Strange and Bickford. Lincoln Regt.—Heath; Turner Roden; Dudley, Cork Bett; Baldry, McGuinness Higgins, Ridley and Lt. Hocquard.

ST. JOSEPH'S v. KOWLOON

Playing at Caroline Hill, St. Joseph's defeated Kowloon by the only goal scored.

St. Joseph's were lucky in securing both points in this game Kowloon failing to convert from a penalty kick. The goal scored was rather a lucky one the ball being deflecting by a defender in to the net. After a few minutes' midfield play, St. Joseph's took up the attack and Cord did well to keep his charge intact.

Sabhan got away on the left and centred; Hill in attempting to clear turned the ball into his own net well out of Cord's reach. This put life into the Saints' attack, but Kowloon defence was very safe.

Kowloon opened up, the game on resuming and for a time the Saints were forced to defend. Kowloon were awarded a penalty kick, but Elliott failed to convert from the spot kick, ballooning the ball over the bar. Kowloon maintained the pressure, but could not get the ball past Marques who played a very safe goal for the Saints.

A. V. Gosano was good in the Saints defence being ably assisted by Gomes.

St. Joseph's.—Marques. A. V. Gosano, Gomes; Marques, Costa, Fernandes; Lawrence, B. Gosano, Leonard, Rocha and Sabhan.

Kowloon.—Cord, Hill, Willis; Whitfield, Timberlake, Bliss; Davies, Lewis, Elliott, Webb and Blake.

R.A. v. H.K. POLICE

These teams met on the Military ground within the racecourse, the Police being successful by the odd goal in three.

The Police opened out the game from the kick off and soon had the Gunners defence guessing, but Comby was safe in goal.

Seal was good on the wing for the Gunners and several fine centres were wasted. Blackmore almost gave the Gunners the lead when he turned the ball towards his own goal with a wary eye of position, but the ball struck the post and rebounded clear. Half-time, no score.

Resuming the Police were soon seen to advantage and took the lead through Willerton from a pass by Stevens. Comby having little chance from close range.

The Police continued to hold the game, the middle line being much too good for the Gunners attack. Britain was very prominent with his swinging passes, from one of which Gough snapped up to go in and beat his old Club mate with a fast cross shot. Green and Willerton went very close for the Police, but Comby cleared in fine style. The Gunners rallied late in the game and were awarded a penalty kick, Barracough converting from the spot kick.

Division II.

YOUNG INDIANS v. KOWLOON F.C.

These teams met within the racecourse, the Young Indians being lucky, to secure both points. Taking advantage of a chance offered in the opening minutes, Azim netted to give the Young Indians the lead. Kowloon could not settle down and their play gave the Young Indians plenty of chances. A. M. Omar netted two goals in succession, giving his side a clear three goals lead. A penalty, to the visitors was well taken by

White and opened the score for Kowloon.

The Young Indians soon replied, Hamet scoring. Being down by four goals to one on resuming, Kowloon played better football during the second half and were unlucky in not sharing the points. G. White put Kowloon two up and soon after G. Winch netted the third goal for the visitors.

H.K. CLUB v. LINCOLN REGT.

The Club were at home to the Lincolns and lost by three goals to two.

The Club opened with a strong attack and kept the Lincolns defending for several minutes. They took the lead through Bell who shot well to beat Deacon from close range. Awarded a penalty kick, the Club went further ahead, Duncan netting at the second attempt after Deacon had saved the spot kick.

Crossing over with a clear two goals lead, the Club continued to have the advantage, but a falling off in the last quarter gave the Lincolns the points by a narrow margin.

A fine movement by the visitors forwards had the Club defence guessing and Clayton beat Angus from close range. Tate snapped up a pass from Toynne and rounding the defence went in to beat Angus and make the score two all. A final effort by the Lincolns enabled McGuinness to shoot into the net well out of Angus' reach.

SOUTH CHINA v. R. NAVY

Playing at Caroline Hill, the Navy went down to South China by four goals to two.

Leu Wing Kwong gave South China the lead and before the interval Hui Yew Kwong headed into the net to put South China two up.

Crossing over two goals in the lead, South China went further ahead when Lai Sui Wing scored. Elsworth opened the score for the Navy from a penalty kick. Gyu turned the ball into his own net to give South China a lead of four goals to one.

Before the final whistle sounded Chappell scored for the Navy.

S.W.B. v. R.A.

Playing at Sookunpoo, the Borderers defeated the Gunners by four goals to three. Edmunds put the Gunners one up early in the game and the Borderers levelled up through Fourty.

Fourty put the Borderers in the lead and Birmingham again brought the scores level.

Crossing over two all, Fourty again netted to complete his "hat trick." Morris scored the Borderers fourth goal and Edmunds scored again for the Gunners. Fourty failed to convert a penalty kick for the Borderers.

DIVISION III.

LINCOLN REGT. v. R.A.M.C.

THE TRAINS ON KWANTI RACE DAYS

More Accommodation Needed

(By Our Special Correspondent)

Now that the racing season in Kwanti is about to be resumed, an article on the train accommodation to Fanling on those occasions would not be out of place; and it is in the hope that the Railway authorities will do something to give the public a better service that this article is being written.

The races at Kwanti usually start at about 2 o'clock, and as it is impossible to expect everybody to go out in motor cars, it is the rule, rather than the exception, to have a rush for the race train. The journey out is not so bad, for quite a number go by an earlier train in order to have the whole day out in the open, and so seating space is not too severely taxed. It is at the end of the day, when everybody makes a bid to get to the train in time in order to find a seat that the trouble begins. I have myself stood all the way from Fanling to Kowloon, and I can assure my readers that such an experience is by no means enjoyable, after walking about the race course for the whole afternoon.

It is no fault of the Fanling Race Club that things are not better arranged for the general public but when one sees that there are special golf trains on Sundays and holidays, one stops to wonder if the Railway authorities attach more importance to the golfers of Fanling than the far larger section of the community who go to Kwanti for the races.

The Railway made enough money last year to show that an extra train or so would not hurt them very much. Why not, then, give the idea a trial? It would not be necessary to run any extra trains out to Fanling, but an additional coach or two on the return journey would have the effect of making everybody comfortable, especially those who lost their all at the races. It would seem that there are any number of third class coaches, but if one or two of these were replaced by a first class and a second class one, every body would be the happier for it.

This may sound rather ungrateful in view of the fact that the Railway have been very accommodating in the past, and especially as they only charge two dollars for the return ticket, and this includes entrance to the course!

While on the subject of racing in Fanling, it would be as well to express the hope here that the bus company concerned would see that some decent vehicles are put on the run from the station to the race course. In the old days, the buses were nothing short of what may be termed "boneshakers" and as they are the only means of conveyance to the course, one cannot but travel on them, unless one goes by car, or walks all the way.

U.S. AND LATIN AMERICA

Pan-American Conference May Discuss Debts

Washington, Oct. 15. It was reported here to-day that the matter of debt owing to the United States by South American countries may be aired at the forthcoming Pan-American Conference as a result of the Senate's investigations of foreign loan bonds floated in this country.

Investigation has shown that, in one instance, a South American country floated a loan in the United States through the aid of Dillon, Read & Co., and payments on the loan have long been in default.

While the United States delegates are not expected to bring the question before the conference, it may be done by some of the Latin American delegates. Financial matters will have an important place on the conference programme.

Meanwhile, efforts are being made by some diplomats from Latin American countries here and in South American capitals to obtain a cessation of fighting between Paraguay and Bolivia for the possession of the Gran Chaco area. All diplomatic circles in the western hemisphere are eager to have the war ended before the international meeting, which takes place at Montevideo in December.

Legations and embassies in Washington have been informed that the Presidents of Argentina and Brazil have jointly urged the two warring nations to sign a truce and submit to arbitration. The Presidents of Paraguay and Brazil have replied and indicated a desire for peace but no actual move in that direction has been made—United Press.

AMERICAN BANK SITUATION

Board To Free Frozen Credits

Washington, Oct. 15. President Roosevelt has announced the establishment within the Reconstruction Finance Corporation of a Deposit Liquidation Board which will use corporation funds for freeing the frozen deposits in closed banks.

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation will take over assets of the banks that would not otherwise be able to open as security for loans instead of forcing the banks to sell them in the open market.

This will enable depositor to obtain possession of fifty per cent. of their deposits at an early date. Deposits thus affected total about $31,000,000,000.

The plan as announced is only applicable to banks that were closed after January 1 this year.

The banking situation in the United States is steadily improving. It was announced to-day by the Federal Reserve Board, and in the period between September 30 and October 10, 23 banks were reorganized and licensed to open. These banks conducted their reorganization affairs without Federal aid but with the assistance of larger banks.

The re-opening of the institutions released deposits totalling $3,325,000,000.

Meanwhile, the Government is proceeding with its strengthening of the position of the licensed banks which are sound but in need of additional capital to permit the extension of credits to business.

Some banking authorities feared that the plan of purchasing preferred stock in the banks would not be practicable because it could not be extended to the larger banks.

When the Government bought an interest in the Continental Bank of Illinois, one of the large institutions of the country, however, there was an improved feeling in regard to the success of the plan.

MR. G. B. SHAW AND THE PRISONERS

Criticism Of Outside Interference

Why he sent "a peppery postcard" to officials of the World Committee for the Relief of Victims of German Fascism was explained by Mr. G. Bernard Shaw. He said:—

"People here get into a state of political agitation and take up the case of some prisoner or other accused by a foreign government, and without the slightest consideration of the fact that they are damaging the unfortunate prisoner—never considering the effect of their proceedings on the prisoner in question."

"Take the case of Sacco and Vanzetti. Any chance they had of not being electrocuted was cut off by foreign agitation got up denouncing American justice and that kind of thing."

"A man named Mooney has been for many years in prison in America, and I daresay would have been let out long ago had he not been used as a stick to beat the American Government with."

"Take the case, again, of the Russian engineers. Our agitation was ridiculous. We had no right to do it. Yet the people who took up that point of view most strongly are doing the very same thing in the case of these unfortunate Leipzig prisoners. If we had anything to say we should wait until they have had their trial. Continually using these unfortunate prisoners abroad as a stick with which to beat a Government seems to be cruel and inconsiderate."
